GRORGE C. STALEY, supported by a GRORGE C. STALEY, supported by a company of unusual dramatic merit, will be seen at the Blanchard opera house, next Monday evening, in a new comedy, entitled "Antony the Trumpeter." Life in old New York, as it is graphically and amusingly described by Washington Irving in this famous "Knickerhocker's History of New York," was selected as a nucleus for the play by John Stapleton, the author. Many of the quaint old characters found in the history, as well as numerous incidents, are maintained throughout the play, and around them is woven a simple story, embracing strong human interest, pretty sentiment and sympathetic pathos. The character of "Antony Von Corlear" affords Mr. Staley a long-sought opportunity to display his exa long-sought opportunity to display his ex-cellent character and comedy ability. Among the special scenic features is a sunset effect, complete in calcium light requisites, and a unique reproduction of an old Deutsche interior. A peerless quartet will be heard in fatherland echoes, "The Quilting Song," and choruses. Mr. Staley will sing "Tender Violets Blue," "She's My Heart's Delight," Love Like a Flower," "I'm a Trumpeter," and some lullaby suc-cesses.

Washington County Court. P. G. CAMP V. VILLAGE OF BARRE.—This was an action on the case brought to re-cover damages for cutting off plaintiff's sewerage. The testimony of the plaintiff tended to show that some time in 1887 (and after the village of Barre became incorpor-ated) the plaintiff entered into an arrange-ment with the bailiffs of the village by which a receiver for surface water was conwhich a receiver for surface water was con-structed within the limits of Washington street, opposite the plaintiff's land, and a drain was laid from that receiver across the street to the north side and connected with a surface sewer running up and down that street; that the village paid one-half the expense thus incurred, and the plaintiff the other half. The relevance of the above the the expense thus incurred and the plaintiff the other half; that, relying upon the above arrangement and understanding, plaintiff laid a drain pipe from his house to the re-ceiver into which he was to discharge the overflow of his cistern and spring water and the sewage from a set bowl in his house; that on June 2, 1892, plaintiff received a no-tice from the balliffs directing him to dis-connect his sewer from the surface sewer on Washington street before the 8th inst.; that the plaintiff paid no attention to this notice, and on July 8, the bailiffs sent him another and on July 8, the bailiffs sent him another notice to disconnect, as complaint had been made that the sewerage from plaintiff's house which emptied into the surface drain pipe had become a nuisance and dangerous to the health of the inhabitants of Barre; this notice also recommended that plaintiff this notice also recommended that plaintiff make connection with the village sewer, constructed in 1890, running the length of Washington street; that no attention being paid to this second notice, in November, 1892, the bailiffs caused the plaintiff's drain-pipe to be disconnected with the receiver of the surface water sewer, and also stopped up that end of plaintiff's drain,—the result of which was that in case of large overflow of water into said drain, the water set back into the cellar, making the same so damp and unbeathful that plaintiff claimed his property had sustained damage to the amount of $2,000; that upon receipt of second notice the plaintiff caused an examina-tion of said sewer to be made by two of the ex-bailiffs, who informed the plaintiff that his sewage was not a nuisance. The de-fendant claimed that said notices to discon-nect said sewerage were issued after receipt of several complaints from different parties that the same was a nuisance; that the sewer was examined by two at least of the bailiffs, who thought the sewage was a nuisance and should be abated; and that in sending notices and causing the disconnection the batilifs acted in pursuance of the authority conferred upon them by section 9 of the act of incorporation and by section 3 of article 5 of the by-laws adopted by the village. The court found that plaintiff's damage at the time of bringing this suit, being disconnected as he was, was $20; that he might, as directed in the notice of July 8, have disconnected his pipe with the village sewer at a small expense, and thus procured for himself a better discharge than he had before the disconnection. JOHN TROW V. B. F. SMITH.—It appeared in this case that one Downing, who was owing plaintiff, left with him a horse to sell at auction and apply the proceeds of said sale on account existing between plaintiff and said Downing; that said horse was sold at auction in April, 1892, and was bid off by defendant for said Downing; that defendant took said horse home, and afterwards, in adjustment of accounts between defendant and said Downing, the horse went to said Downing; but notwithstanding arto said Downing; but notwithstanding arrangements made between defendant and said Downing, plaintiff claimed that pay for said horse should go to him. Judgment for defendant to recover his costs. Martin & Slack for plaintiff; Shurtleff for defendant.

Slack for plaintiff; Shurtleff for defendant.

SAWYER V. CROSS & SON.—It appeared in evidence that in January, 1885, the defendants sued out a writ against the plaintiff in general assumpsit, returnable before a justice of the peace on the 10th of February, 1885; that the writ was served by leaving a copy with defendant's wife in Middlesex at the then usual place of abode of the plaintiff; that judgment by default was taken in the suit on the return day without proving a notice to the plaintiff of the pendency of the suit, and without the giving of a bond as the statute provides; nor was the case continued on notice. No execution was ever issued on that judgment, but subsequently, and on the 16th of June, 1891, the judgment in that suit was sued and the case came into county court by appeal. The plaintiff Sawyer introduced evidence tendcame into county court by appeal. The plaintiff Sawyer introduced evidence tend-ing to prove his absence from the state at the time the above-mentioned writ was served, and also as to his continued absence until after the return day, and that he had no notice in effect of the suit. The defendants no notice in effect of the suit. The defendants introduced evidence tending to prove the presence of plaintiff in the state within the time named; that plaintiff had knowledge of the judgment against him and had had several interviews with the defendants in regard to paying a per cent on the same. Judgment for plaintiff, setting aside the judgment complained of, and for his costs. Exceptions by defendants. Shurtleff, and Barney & Hoar for plaintiff; Martin & Slack for defendants.

A. Luce v. G. W. Dodge.—This was an action on the case. The plaintiff introduced evidence tending to prove that in the fall of 1891, defendant, who was then first selectman of Berlin, actuated by malice and for the purpose of harassing and vexing the plaintiff, caused the road in front of plaintiff's premises to be so lowered and altered as to not only make plaintiff's driveway nearly impassable, but to the great damage of the drain and culvert that plaintiff had put in at his own expense, and with damage to his stone wall. The plaintiff claimed that his property was injured to the amount of $300. The defendant and his assistants in the work, Lawrence, Shambo and Denio, testified that whatever was done at this point of the road was done with a view to benefiting and improving the highway, and with no malicious intent toward the plaintiff, that the work and the seasons and the seasons and the seasons and the seasons are the seasons as a season and the seasons are the seasons are the seasons are the seasons and the seasons are the seasons are the seasons are the seasons and the seasons are the seasons are the seasons are the seasons and the seasons are the seasons are the seasons are the seasons and the seasons are the seasons are the seasons are the seasons and the seasons are the seasons are the seasons are the seasons and the seasons are the seasons a benefiting and improving the highway, and with no malicious intent toward the plaintiff; that the work so done was actually needed and was a benefit to the road. The court found, among other facts, that plaintiff's driveway was injured to the extent of $3 worth, and that $5 would put plaintiff's drain in as good condition as it was before. Judgment for defendant. Exceptions by plaintiff. G. W. Wing for plaintiff; Dillingham, Huse & Howland for defendant.

W. C. JONES v. F. MEARS,-This was an om which defendant had leased of plaintiff for a term of years, said lease being in writing. The only question involved was as to the time the defendant occupied said premises. The plaintiff's evidence to show that he had always claimed defend-ant was in possession of said premises, and that, although defendant had tendered the key of said premises, the plaintiff had al-ways refused to accept the surrender of said premises under the lease by the defendant; but defendant established the fact that in the summer of 1892 plaintiff caused a justice ejectment suit to be brought, demanding in his specifications that defendant surrender said premises, aithough a non-suit was later entered in said justice ejectment case. The court held that said suit was notice to the defendant to surrender said premises, and that plaintiff could recover rent only to the day of bringing said ejectment suit. Judg-ment for plaintiff for $53.87. Shurtleff for plaintiff; Barney & Hoar for defendant.

MR. MEARS V. C. E. SHEPARD. - This was an action of replevin. It appeared by evidence that defendant, while constable for the town of Marshfield, seized certain property of plaintiff's by virtue of a tax col-lector's warrant, and sold the same to sat-isfy the claim for unpaid taxes. The plaintiff replevied said property and introduced evidence that the listers of said Marshfield, in 1891, increased the plaintiff's appraisal of his stock in trade $1,600, without inspection as required by law. It also appeared in evidence that the selectmen of said town placed the tax list with the town treasurer of ninety days said town treasurer made a list of the delinquent tax-payers in a separate book, to which list was attached the warrant by virtue of which the defendant seized the plaintiff's property. The court held that the defendant's action was illegal in the said warrant was not on the said warrant by warrant by warrant by warrant by the said warrant was not on was illegal in the said warrant was not of the said warrant warrant was not of the said warrant warrant was not of the said warrant was not of the said warrant warrant was not of the said warrant warrant warrant was not of the said warrant wa gal in that said warrant was not attached to the original list of tax-payers issued by the selectmen as contemplated by the stat-ute. Judgment for plaintiff of one cent damages and cost. Exceptions by defend-ant. Lamson and G. W. Wing for plain-tiff: Shurtleff for defendant. H. E. RECORD v. W. E. FISK.-This an action of audita querela to set aside judg-ment obtained by defendant against plaintiff ment obtained by detenuant against plaintiff before a justice of the peace at Woodbury on the 28th of June, 1893. Case partially heard and left with the court, with the under-standing that the hearing shall be com-pleted November 14. Lamson and G. W. Wing for plaintiff; Shurtleff and Bullard for defendant.
